INTRODUCTORY ALLEGATIONS

At all relevant times herein:

1. The sports and celebrity memorabilia market in the United States is approximately one billion dollars per year. Industry experts estimate that upwards of 50% (and perhaps as much as 90%) of the items comprising this market are counterfeit. Typically, the individuals who traffic in this black market obtain memorabilia containing forged autographs of celebrities, which are then inaccurately certified as genuine.

1 2. Autographed sports and celebrity memorabilia frequently
2 consists of either clothing, such as jerseys or shoes; sports
3 equipment, such as bats and balls; pieces of paper (commonly known 4 as "cuts"); musical instruments, record albums, or pictorial 5 items, such as photographs, posters, and trading cards -- all of 6 which bear the purported signature of a professional athlete or 7 celebrity connected in some way with the item of memorabilia.

8 3. The price of an item of autographed memorabilia depends 9 on a variety of factors. The success and popularity of the 10 individual generally influences the price. In addition, the 11 memorabilia of deceased athletes and celebrities (so-called 12 "vintage memorabilia") typically yields higher prices.

13 4. Although there are numerous unrelated distributors of 14 counterfeit memorabilia, the majority of counterfeit memorabilia
15 distributed throughout the United States is traceable to a finite 16 number of counterfeiters who supply an enormous amount of high-17 quality fraudulent sports and celebrity memorabilia. These 18 counterfeiters usually sell the memorabilia (containing forged 19 signatures) to large-scale distributors who supply the items to 20 major retail outlets, other smaller distributors, or directly to 21 the public.

22 5. Typically, one of the conspirators in the distribution 23 chain obtains a certificate of authenticity attesting to the 24 genuineness of the items containing athlete or celebrity 25 signatures. Sometimes, these certificates are simply prepared by 26 a distributor fraudulently filling out blank forms that he has 27
28

1 mass produced. On other occasions, the distributors utilize other 2 individuals who purport to examine the item and render an "expert"
3 opinion as to the signature's authenticity. Frequently, the 4 authenticators have forensic expertise and claim to (or actually) 5 have scientifically compared the signature on the memorabilia to 6 known examples of the celebrity's handwriting.

7 6. The role of the authenticator is extremely important to 8 the success of the criminal venture. It is the certificate of 9 authenticity which allows distributors to feign, or maintain, 10 ignorance of the fraudulent nature of the item they are selling.
11 On the few occasions when an unsuspecting buyer discovers the 12 fraud, the seller can claim that he relied on the accuracy of the 13 certificate of authenticity and was unaware of the counterfeit 14 nature of the celebrity's signature contained on the item.

15 7. On the other hand, the authenticators -- if confronted 16 by an angry buyer -- can always claim that they are not 17 responsible for the fraud and merely gave their best opinion as to 18 whether the signature was genuine. As a rule, the certificates of 19 authenticity expressly state that they merely represent the 20 authenticator's expert opinion and cannot be relied upon as a 21 warranty that the item of memorabilia is, in fact, genuine.

22 8. Eventually, the counterfeit item enters the stream of 23 legitimate commerce in this country. Once in the legitimate 24 stream of commerce, the item may be sold from a wide variety of 25 different locations. Among the differing venues are: (1) Internet 26 auction sites; (2) numerous mail order businesses and large 27
28

1 retail stores that advertise in various trade publications; (3)
2 upscale franchise stores located in malls and airport concourses
3 around the country; (4) home shopping channels; (5) local shops
4 that specialize in baseball cards or other items of memorabilia;
5 (6) memorabilia shows; (7) movie theaters; and (8) local charity 6 auctions.

7 9. On some occasions, the ultimate retailer of the 8 counterfeit item may be unaware of its fraudulent nature.
9 However, if the retailer is aware -- or suspects due to the item's 10 price or appearance -- that the memorabilia is counterfeit, he may 11 attempt to disguise the illegal activity by obtaining several 12 genuine items of memorabilia that were actually signed by the 13 celebrity. If confronted by a customer, the seller can tell the 14 customer that the item must be genuine based on the seller's false 15 claim that it was personally obtained from the athlete.

16 10. In addition, unscrupulous retailers utilize pictures
17 taken with celebrities to promote the sale of counterfeit items 18 claiming that they were signed by a celebrity at the time of the 19 picture. On occasion, retailers will simply get a stock picture 20 of an athlete signing autographs in an attempt to convince the 21 unsuspecting buyer of the item's genuineness.

22 The Counterfeit Memorabilia Market

23 11. The market for genuine vintage memorabilia has changed
24 dramatically over the last decade. In the late 1980's, the market 25 consisted of a very limited supply of genuine articles (e.g., 26 vintage balls, checks, old books, letters, and the rare cut).
27

1 These items were almost exclusively traded among a select group of 2 collectors through a well-defined network. However, at present,
3 the market is absolutely flooded with tens of thousands of vintage 4 items (including bats, balls, jerseys, helmets, record albums, 5 pictures, magazines, pieces of paper, posters, lithographs, and 6 other items) that are counterfeit.

7 12. In fact, the current "public" market in vintage 8 memorabilia is largely comprised of forgeries. This market in 9 vintage memorabilia is directly attributable to the special skills 10 of a select group of forgers. Indeed, vintage cuts were almost 11 non-existent prior to these forgers beginning to produce the cuts 12 within the last decade. Today, there are literally thousands of 13 these counterfeit items in retail businesses across the country.

14 13. The black market is increasingly turning to the Internet 15 in order to facilitate the sale of counterfeit sports and 16 celebrity memorabilia. Attempting to cloak themselves in the 17 anonymity available in cyberspace, black marketeers brazenly offer 18 multiple, high-priced counterfeits from a variety of websites.

19 14. The current market of non-vintage memorabilia is also 20 characterized by the counterfeiting of the signatures of select 21 athletes and celebrities who command large sums in the open
22 market. In particular demand on the current black market are items
23 signed by Mark McGwire, Sammy Sosa, Ted Williams, Mohammed Ali, 24 John Elway, Joe Montana, Michael Jordan, Kobe Bryant, Mel Gibson
25 and Pamela Anderson Lee.

1 15. Some of the most popular athletes have started to 2 introduce security procedures in an attempt to frustrate 3 counterfeiters. For example, Michael Jordan entered into an 4 exclusive contract with Upper Deck to sell his autographed items.
5 Therefore, it is likely that any retail item of sports memorabilia 6 purporting to be signed by Jordan is counterfeit -- except for 7 merchandise marketed through Upper Deck. For a number of years,
8 Michael Jordan's contract with Upper Deck has been an exclusive 9 contract that prevents him from selling his autographs to other 10 sources.

11 16. Similarly, Mark McGwire has refused to sign autographs
12 (for money) for approximately the last decade. As a result, a 13 McGwire signature purchased on the retail market is likely to be 14 a forgery.

15 Production, Bogus Authentication and distribution
16 of Counterfeit memorabilia

17 17. In September 1997, a Special Agent with the FBI assumed 18 the undercover role of John Freitas -- owner of Nihon Trading, 19 2181 El Camino Real, Suite 100, Oceanside. As part of his 20 undercover role, "Freitas" represented to individuals that he was 21 presently in the business of exporting sports memorabilia to 22 Pacific rim nations.

23 18. Over the last two years, utilizing "Freitas" and others, 24 the Government has been able to purchase fraudulent sports (and 25 celebrity) memorabilia from a number of different individuals.
26 These suppliers of fraudulent memorabilia include, Michael Bowler, 27
28

1 Jon Hall, Carmen Lombardo, Jack Morgenstern, Michael Moses, and 2 David Tabb.

3 19. Most, if not all, of these suppliers have stated in 4 recorded conversations that the "Marino family" is considered to 5 be one of the major forgers of counterfeit memorabilia. The 6 suppliers have also indicated that Wayne Bray is one of the main 7 distributors (and authenticators) of counterfeit memorabilia
8 produced by the Marinos.

9 Interception of Wire Communications

10 20. In early 1999, the Federal District Court in the 11 Southern District of California, authorized the interception of 12 wire communications from phones located at: (1) Wayne Bray's 13 business, W.W. Sportscards, 133 North Pacific Street, Unit D, San 14 Marcos, California; (2) the home of Greg and Kathleen Marino, 395
15 Beaumont Glenn, number 257, Escondido, California; and (3) the 16 home of Angelo, Gloria and John Marino, 2422 Smokewood Place, 17 Escondido, California.

18 21. These intercepted conversations revealed that Wayne Bray 19 had been distributing millions of dollars worth of counterfeit 20 memorabilia over the last several years. In addition, the 21 interceptions (and related investigation) have confirmed that Bray 22 was obtaining the forged signatures of the various athletes and 23 celebrities from, among others, Angelo, Gloria, Greg, Kathleen and 24 John Marino.

25 22. These interceptions also indicated that Angelo and Greg 26 Marino were actively involved in the forging of the memorabilia, 27
28

1 while Kathleen, Gloria and John Marino assisted in the 2 distribution of the counterfeit goods. They also suggested that 3 John Marino was responsible for procuring many of the raw 4 materials necessary to commit the forgeries, i.e., blank balls,
5 bats, aged paper and pens. In addition, the interceptions
6 demonstrated that the Marinos were supplying forged memorabilia to 7 approximately a dozen distributors apart from Wayne Bray.

8 23. The Marino family had been supplying counterfeit items 9 since approximately 1994. During that time, they presided over the 10 largest counterfeit sports and celebrity memorabilia operation in 11 the country. This operation accounted for the production of 12 unknown millions of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia.

13 24. The fraudulent memorabilia distributors utilizing Marino
14 counterfeits on occasion obtained product from smaller counterfeit 15 operations. In these operations, the forgers typically had a 16 repertoire of specific athletes and celebrities whom they could 17 counterfeit, but shared an overlapping distribution network. The 18 other counterfeiters included Michael Moses, David Tabb, and 19 Michael Lopez.

20 25. This network was comprised of various middlemen who 21 moved the counterfeits into the legitimate stream of commerce.
22 Typically, the middlemen would sell to memorabilia wholesalers or 23 retailers. However, on occasion, they would mass market (using 24 both mail order and the Internet) the counterfeit memorabilia 25 directly to the general public. In addition to Wayne Bray, the 26 middlemen included, Michael Bowler, Nathan Harrison, Sheldon
27
28

1 Jaffe, Michael Moses, Rino Ruberti, David Tabb, Michael Tapales
2 and Richard Weimer.

3 26. The middlemen would normally be charged with obtaining 4 certificates of authenticity for the counterfeit memorabilia prior 5 to selling the goods to the ultimate retailer. The retailers
6 included Bruce Gaston, Forrest Golembeske, Jon Hall, Lowell Katz, 7 Richard Laughlin, Carmen Lombardo and Anthony Marino.

8 COUNT ONE

9 27. Beginning at a time unknown to the Government and 10 continuing up to and including October 13, 1999, within the 11 Southern District of California, and elsewhere, defendant GREGORY 12 JAMES MARINO did knowingly and willfully combine, conspire and 13 agree with John Thomas Marino, Gloria Marino, Angelo Andrew 14 Marino, Kathleen Ann Marino all doing business as (hereinafter 15 referred to as d/b/a) "Front Page Art," Michael David Bowler
16 d/b/a/ "J&M Sportscards" and "JMC Distributors," Wayne Donald Bray
17 d/b/a "W.W. Sportscards" and "Sport and Celebrity Autograph
18 Authentication, SCAA," William Bruce Gaston d/b/a "La Jolla 19 Sportscards," Forrest Golembeske d/b/a "Frosty's Sports Cards" and 20 "Collectibles & Antiques," Jon Frederick Hall d/b/a "Del Mar
21 Sportscards," Nathan William Harrison d/b/a "LNN Enterprises," 22 Sheldon Jaffe d/b/a "Shelly's Cards," Scott Lee Harris and Mary 23 Louise Harris both d/b/a/ "Universal Engineering and Development 24 Company," Lowell Katz d/b/a "The Beautiful and the Unusual," 25 Richard John Laughlin d/b/a "Framed Images," Carmen "Chip"
26 Lombardo d/b/a "Home Field Advantage," Michael Lopez, Anthony

1 Marino d/b/a "Pro Sports, Ltd.," Richard J. Mitchell, Michael 2 Pierce Moses and Robyn Greene Moses d/b/a "Sports Management
3 Group," "Sports Alley," and "Universal Authentic Memorabilia," 4 Rino David Ruberti and Karen Michelle Ruberti d/b/a "Sports Card
5 Kid," "Universal Authentic Memorabilia" and "Universal Engineering
6 and Development Company," David Joel Tabb d/b/a "Hollywood
7 Collectibles" and "Hollywood Dreams," Michael John Tapales d/b/a 8 "Prime Time Sportscards," Richard A. Weimer d/b/a "Rick's 9 Collectibles," and with numerous others, to utilize the United 10 States Postal Service and other common carriers to defraud
11 consumers and obtain money by means of false and fraudulent 12 pretenses, representations and promises; all in violation of 13 Title 18, United States Code, Sections 371 and 1341.

14 THE METHODS OF THE CONSPIRACY

15 28. As a part of the conspiracy, Angelo Marino would paint
16 original pictures of various sports figures, such as Dan Marino,
17 Joe Montana, Joe Namath, Mohammed Ali, Tiger Woods, and Cal
18 Ripkin, Jr.

19 29. As a further part of the conspiracy, Angelo Marino would 20 get some of the sports figures to sign a limited number of his 21 lithographs. He would then "pad" his profits by forging additional 22 signatures onto his lithographs.

23 30. As a further part of the conspiracy, John Marino began 24 purchasing photographs of sports and celebrities from various 25 companies specializing in selling these photographs. After 26
27
28

1 obtaining the photographs, Greg Marino would forge the celebrity's 2 signature on the picture.

3 31. As a further part of the conspiracy, Greg Marino forged
4 the signatures of thousands of celebrities, including Mother
5 Theresa, Abraham Lincoln, Martin Luther King, Albert Einstein, 6 Marilyn Monroe, Elvis Presley, Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Ty Cobb, 7 Sammy Sosa, Mark McGwire and Tony Gwynn.

8 32. As a further part of the conspiracy, John Marino would 9 offer to sell the fraudulent photographs and lithographs utilizing 10 the Marinos' company, Front Page Art.

11 33. As a further part of the conspiracy, Gloria Marino would 12 handle the financial arrangements involving the family's 13 counterfeiting activity. In addition, she would handle all 14 payments and distribute the money to the various family members.

15 34. As a further part of the conspiracy, Kathleen Marino 16 would assist the family by, among other things, taking orders for 17 counterfeit items and preparing blank items of memorabilia to 18 facilitate their forging by her husband, Greg Marino.

19 35. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos divided
20 up their profits by giving one-third to Greg and Kathleen Marino, 21 one-third to Angelo and Gloria Marino, and one-third to John 22 Marino.

23 36. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 24 conspiracy, the Marinos dealt primarily in cash, utilized nominees 25 to purchase assets, and failed to report their illegal income to 26 the Internal Revenue Service.

1 37. As a further part of the conspiracy, Greg Marino also 2 traded Angelo Marino lithographs with Michael Lopez. In exchange 3 for the lithographs, Lopez gave Marino memorabilia on which he 4 [Lopez] had personally forged the signatures of various athletes.

5 38. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Lopez
6 introduced Greg Marino to Sheldon Jaffe. For a short time, Greg 7 Marino forged signatures for Jaffe. Eventually, he began forging
8 only for his brother, John Marino, who was in charge of obtaining 9 customers.

10 39. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 11 conspiracy, the Marinos later limited their sale of counterfeit 12 memorabilia to a select group of conspirators. These criminal 13 insiders included coconspirators: Wayne Bray, Richard Mitchell, 14 Richard Laughlin, Jon Hall, Rino Ruberti, Michael Tapales, Nathan 15 Harrison, Michael Bowler and Richard Weimer.

16 40. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 17 conspiracy, the Marinos would only allow Wayne Bray, Richard 18 Mitchell, Richard Laughlin, Nathan Harrison and Richard Weimer 19 into their residence. In addition, they would conduct their 20 illegal business with Rino Ruberti, Michael Tapales and Michael 21 Bowler in various parking lots around San Diego. Their remaining 22 customers were serviced either at their stores or by mail.

23 41. As a further part of the conspiracy, John Marino began 24 purchasing unsigned sporting goods (such as bats, balls, jerseys, 25 helmets, gloves, and hockey sticks) and old books. In addition, 26
27
28

1 he occasionally would rip pages out of library books that were 2 published decades ago.

3 42. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos began 4 forging the signature of deceased athletes and celebrities on aged 5 pieces of paper ("cuts") that John Marino had obtained. In forging
6 these signatures, Greg Marino would utilize ink that was produced 7 during the celebrity's lifetime.

8 43. As a further part of the conspiracy, Greg Marino would 9 typically forge the various items of memorabilia in his parents 10 living or dining room.

11 44. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos 12 maintained a "black book" containing thousands of examples (known 13 as "exemplars") of genuine celebrity signatures. Greg Marino would 14 utilize these exemplars, unless he had memorized the signature of 15 the particular celebrity he was forging.

16 45. As a further part of the conspiracy, Wayne Bray supplied 17 the Marinos with blank balls, bats, clothing, equipment, and other 18 items -- along with a list of celebrity signatures (or actual 19 celebrity exemplars) that he wished forged. After forging the 20 signatures of the celebrities, the Marinos gave the items back to 21 Bray for distribution.

22 46. As a further part of the conspiracy, Wayne Bray
23 manufactured a red "Haiti" baseball stamp to conceal the true age 24 of many of the baseballs on which Greg Marino was forging the 25 signature of deceased ballplayers.

1 47. As a further part of the conspiracy, Stan Fitzgerald
2 instructed Wayne Bray to move the placement of the Haiti stamp in 3 order to allow the forgeries to be placed on the "sweet spot" of 4 the baseball.

5 48. As a further part of the conspiracy, Wayne Bray also 6 sold the Marinos' counterfeit memorabilia to various retailers 7 around the country. These retailers sold millions of dollars of 8 counterfeit memorabilia through dozens of outlets located across 9 the country. Some of these retailers also obtained counterfeit 10 memorabilia from Michael Lopez, Nathan Harrison, and David Tabb.

11 49. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Lopez
12 forged counterfeit memorabilia for, among others, The Hall of 13 Fame, B&J Collectibles, The Prince of Cards, and Plaques Gallery.

14 50. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 15 conspiracy, Michael Lopez would regularly change his cell phone 16 numbers and rent or lease cars that he was using to conduct 17 illegal activity.

18 51. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 19 conspiracy, Wayne Bray established Sport and Celebrity Autograph 20 Authentication ("SCAA") in order to disguise the sale of 21 counterfeit memorabilia. This company was set up by Bray for the 22 sole purpose of authenticating counterfeit memorabilia produced by 23 the Marinos.

24 52. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 25 conspiracy, Wayne Bray also formed an authentication company with 26 a partner. In order to separate the authentication company from 27
28

1 his sale of counterfeit memorabilia, the two partners agreed to 2 call the business, J. DiMaggio Company. They decided to utilize 3 this name in order to capitalize on the notoriety surrounding the 4 name "J. DiMaggio." Once again, this business was set up for the 5 sole purpose of authenticating counterfeit memorabilia.

6 53. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 7 conspiracy, other coconspirators began utilizing both SCAA and J.
8 DiMaggio Company to authenticate their forgeries. Typically, 9 Wayne Bray would check the forgeries to ensure that they were 10 high-quality. In addition, he would want to ensure that the 11 forgers placed the right signature on a celebrity photograph and 12 did not use a photo or item of memorabilia produced after the 13 death of the celebrity. On the other hand, his partner would 14 frequently issue certificates without even doing a cursory 15 examination.

16 54. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 17 conspiracy, the coconspirators also obtained certificates of 18 authenticity from Forensic Document Services ("FDS"), Authentic 19 Autographs Unlimited ("AAU"), Donald Frangipani and others to 20 disguise the fact that the memorabilia they were selling was 21 counterfeit.

22 55. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 23 conspiracy, the Marinos had nominees purchase cashier's checks in 24 order to conceal the origin of their illegal profits.
25
26
27
28

1 56. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 2 conspiracy, the Marinos failed to declare, and secreted in their 3 residence, hundreds of thousands of dollars in cash.

4 57. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
5 their counterfeit memorabilia to Jon Hall. Hall utilized his 6 business, Del Mar Sportscards, to sell the counterfeit memorabilia 7 to the general public.

8 58. As a further part of the conspiracy, Jon Hall also sold
9 the counterfeit memorabilia to Carmen "Chip" Lombardo. Lombardo 10 would then usually resell the counterfeit memorabilia over the 11 Internet utilizing his company, Home Field Advantage.

12 59. As a further part of the conspiracy, Jon Hall introduced 13 one of his suppliers, Rino Ruberti, to John Marino. Eventually, 14 Ruberti became one of the major purchasers of counterfeit 15 memorabilia produced by the Marinos.

16 60. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 17 conspiracy, Rino Ruberti and Michael Moses set up the mail order
18 business, Universal Authentic Memorabilia ("UAM"). This company 19 distributed millions of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia.

20 61. As a further part of the conspiracy, UAM advertised in 21 the various memorabilia trade journals. During the life of the 22 business, it sold only counterfeit memorabilia.

23 62. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Moses would 24 personally forge the signatures of certain celebrities who were 25 not deceased. Rino Ruberti would then obtain most of the rest of 26
27
28

1 their counterfeit memorabilia from the Marinos. Occasionally,
2 Moses would trade counterfeit memorabilia with David Tabb.

3 63. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Moses and 4 Rino Ruberti employed individuals to take orders and make 5 deliveries of counterfeit memorabilia for UAM.

6 64. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Moses and 7 Rino Ruberti would utilize their wives, Robyn Moses and Karen
8 Ruberti to assist with running UAM. In addition, they utilized 9 Scott and Mary Louise Harris (who were Karen Ruberti's parents) to 10 assist in running the business and in laundering their illegal 11 proceeds.

12 65. As a further part of the conspiracy, David Tabb
13 exchanged forgeries he produced with Michael Moses. Over the last 14 four years, Tabb sold millions of dollars of counterfeits through 15 movie theaters, sports bars and the Internet.

16 66. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 17 conspiracy, David Tabb would destroy his books and records 18 documenting his illegal activity.

19 67. As a further part of the conspiracy, Rino Ruberti sold
20 counterfeit memorabilia to, among others, Wall of Fame, A&J 21 Collectibles, Whiz Kid, and Grand Slam Memorabilia.

22 68. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 23 conspiracy, Rino Ruberti and Michael Moses utilized Scott and Mary 24 Louise Harris to: (1) obtain a merchant credit card account; (2) 25 obtain a business bank account; (3) ship packages; and (4) deliver 26 orders of counterfeit memorabilia.

1 69. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 2 conspiracy, Scott and Mary Louise Harris used their bank account
3 with Universal Engineering and Development Company to launder 4 proceeds from UAM.

5 70. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 6 conspiracy, Rino Ruberti and Michael Moses obtained fraudulent 7 certificates of authenticity from J. DiMaggio Company and SCAA to 8 disguise the counterfeit nature of their memorabilia.

9 71. As a further part of the conspiracy, Rino Ruberti had 10 Greg Marino forge the signature of athletes on stolen Upper Deck 11 special edition cards.

12 72. As a further part of the conspiracy, Nathan Harrison 13 distributed millions of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia through 14 his business, LNN Enterprises. LNN Enterprises' customers 15 included Forrest Golembeske d/b/a Frosty's Sportscards and 16 Collectibles and Antiques, Lowell Katz d/b/a The Beautiful and the 17 Unusual, Anthony Marino d/b/a Pro Sports, Ltd. and numerous 18 others. Harrison obtained his counterfeit memorabilia either 19 directly or indirectly from the Marinos.

20 73. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
21 counterfeit memorabilia to Richard Mitchell. Mitchell distributed
22 hundreds of thousands of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia
23 primarily through retail businesses in Las Vegas, Nevada. Mitchell 24 also sold the counterfeit memorabilia to Bruce Gaston who owned 25 and operated La Jolla Sports Cards.

1 74. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
2 counterfeit memorabilia to Michael Bowler. Bowler sold hundreds 3 of thousands of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia primarily over 4 the Internet.

5 75. As a further part of the conspiracy, Michael Bowler did 6 resell some of the counterfeit memorabilia to local retailers.

7 76. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
8 counterfeit memorabilia to Richard Laughlin. Laughlin sold this 9 memorabilia both through his store, Framed Images, and on 10 consignment at other retail outlets in Arizona and California.

11 77. As a further part of the conspiracy, Richard Laughlin
12 specialized in selling "old junk" on which the Marinos forged 13 celebrity signatures.

14 78. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
15 counterfeit memorabilia to Richard Weimer. Utilizing his business, 16 Rick's Collectibles, Weimer sold large quantities of counterfeit 17 memorabilia to retailers in Massachusetts and Illinois.

18 79. As a further part of the conspiracy, Richard Weimer
19 would purchase blank certificates of authenticity from Wayne Bray 20 in order to disguise the fact that the ultimate customer was 21 receiving counterfeit memorabilia.

22 80. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
23 counterfeit memorabilia to Michael Tapales aka "Mike the runner"
24 and "Little Mikey". Tapales resold the counterfeit memorabilia 25 through his business, Prime Time Sportscards, to a number of 26 different wholesalers, including Sheldon Jaffe and Michael Moses.

1 81. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos sold
2 hundreds of thousands of dollars of counterfeit memorabilia
3 directly to a couple of retail outlets. These retailers sold the 4 counterfeit memorabilia both over the Internet and directly out of 5 their stores.

6 82. As a further part of the conspiracy, Lowell Katz sold 7 counterfeit memorabilia (produced by the Marinos) over the 8 Internet.

9 83. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 10 conspiracy, John Marino, Gloria Marino, Angelo Marino, and Greg 11 Marino would deliver counterfeit memorabilia to their customers in 12 parking lots and other public places.

13 84. As a further part of the conspiracy, the Marinos, Rino 14 Ruberti, Wayne Bray, Ricky Mitchell, and Nathan Harrison would 15 discuss ways to conceal and hide their illegal operations from law 16 enforcement. Among other things, they agreed to "a code of 17 silence" if questioned regarding their counterfeiting activities.

18 85. As a further part, and to conceal the existence, of the 19 conspiracy, the conspirators frequently talked in "code" when 20 using the telephone.

13 that the agent had previously purchased from Carmen Lombardo.

14 53. On or about November 4, 1998, in Del Mar, California,
15 Jon Hall told a government undercover agent that he could supply 16 the agent with counterfeit memorabilia at a cheaper price because 17 he obtained his items directly from John Marino.

18 54. On or about November 4, 1998, in Del Mar, California, 19 Jon Hall agreed to sell a government undercover agent ten cuts (at 20 $125 each) and ten pieces of currency (at $200 each) that 21 purported to be signed by Babe Ruth.

22 55. On or about November 5, 1998, in San Clemente, 23 California, Michael Moses agreed to sell to a government 24 undercover agent over 300 pieces of counterfeit memorabilia,
25 including eight Babe Ruth cuts and a large amount of baseball
26 memorabilia allegedly signed by Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa.

56. On or about November 6, 1998, in San Clemente, California, Mary Louise and Scott Harris assisted Michael Moses in delivering the above-referenced order of counterfeit sports memorabilia.

57. On or about November 6, 1998, in Oceanside, California, Michael Moses delivered to a government undercover agent the order of counterfeit memorabilia in exchange for $6,000 in cash and a $900 check made out to Robyn Moses.

58. On or about November 24, 1998, in Del Mar, California, Jon Hall agreed to sell a government undercover agent an additional 60 baseballs (at $40 each) which were to contain signatures purporting to be Joe DiMaggio's.

59. On or about November 24, 1998, in Del Mar, California, Jon Hall instructed a government undercover agent that the agent had to pay for the memorabilia with cash as he was not willing to accept checks for these items.

60. On or about December 2, 1998, in Del Mar, California, Jon Hall, in exchange for $5,700 in cash, sold a government undercover agent 60 counterfeit Joe DiMaggio baseballs, ten counterfeit Babe Ruth cuts and ten pieces of currency (also containing forgeries of Babe Ruth's signature).

61. On or about December 4, 1998, in Del Mar, California, Jon Hall sold a government undercover agent four photographs of Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris, four photographs of DiMaggio, Mantle and Williams and five bats -- all containing signatures forged by Greg Marino.

1 62. On or about December 6, 1998, in San Clemente,
2 California, Michael Moses arranged to sell several hundred 3 additional pieces of counterfeit memorabilia to a government 4 undercover agent, including a large number of items allegedly 5 signed by Mark McGwire and Sammy Sosa (and baseball bats
6 purportedly signed by all three triple crown winners -- Carl
7 Yastremski, Ted Williams and Frank Robinson -- and one purportedly 8 signed by members of the 3,000 hit club).

9 63. On or about December 18, 1998, in Del Mar, California,
10 Jon Hall agreed to sell a government undercover agent: (1) ten 11 Babe Ruth cut signatures; (2) ten Elvis Presley cut signatures;
12 (3) ten Marilyn Monroe cut signatures; (4) five Bruce Lee cut
13 signatures; (5) five John Wayne cut signatures; and (6) one signed 14 Beatles photograph.

15 64. On or about January 9, 1999, in San Juan Capistrano,
16 California, Richard Laughlin called Wayne Bray to discuss picking 17 up one of his orders of counterfeit memorabilia.

18 65. On or about January 11, 1999, in Long Beach, California, 19 Lowell Katz called Wayne Bray, in San Marcos, California, to 20 complain that Bray had forgotten to have DiMaggio's signature
21 forged on 12 of the 144 DiMaggio baseballs which he had recently 22 been sent.

23 66. On or about January 18, 1999, in San Juan Capistrano,
24 Richard Laughlin called Wayne Bray to discuss the fraudulent 25 certification of counterfeit memorabilia.

1 67. On or about January 19, 1999, in Escondido, California,
2 Richard Weimer attempted to purchase a counterfeit Babe Ruth
3 baseball from Wayne Bray. Bray told Weimer that he had a beautiful
4 Babe Ruth ball that he would sell Weimer for $1,300 (Bray added 5 that the ball was worth $6,000). Weimer then inquired whether 6 Bray could add Lou Gehrig's signature to the Babe Ruth ball.

7 68. On or about January 25, 1999, in San Marcos, California,
8 Richard Laughlin picked up a prior order of counterfeit
9 memorabilia from Wayne Bray. At that time, Laughlin informed Bray 10 that he was looking for an old Lou Gehrig newspaper comic that he 11 could give to Bray so that Lou Gehrig's signature could be forged 12 thereon.

13 69. On or about January 25, 1999, in Vista, California, 14 Richard Laughlin left an order of counterfeit memorabilia with 15 James DiMaggio in order to have it certified as genuine.

16 70. On or about January 26, 1999, in San Clemente, 17 California, Richard Yeager dropped off blank memorabilia at Rino
18 Ruberti's residence (so that Ruberti could have forged signatures 19 placed thereon).

20 71. On or about January 26, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 21 Rino Ruberti transferred the blank memorabilia delivered by 22 Richard Yeager into John Marino's Jeep Grand Cherokee which was 23 parked in a vacant lot.

24 72. On or about January 26, 1999, in San Marcos, California,
25 Wayne Bray called John Marino. In this call, Bray told John Marino 26 not to worry about the Marinos selling to other individuals as 27

1 Bray did not want to affect the Marinos' ability to make a living.
2 John Marino then responded that everybody knew Bray was the 3 "Godfather of [the] memorabilia business."

4 73. On or about January 28, 1999, in Del Mar, California,
5 Jon Hall admitted that he was going to order some Mitchell & Ness
6 replica jerseys and have the signatures of deceased ball players
7 placed thereon.

8 74. On or about February 3, 1999, in Del Mar, California,
9 Carmen Lombardo offered to sell a government undercover agent 25
10 counterfeit Michael Jordan photographs and one counterfeit Michael 11 Jordan basketball for $605.

12 75. On or about February 5, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
13 Michael Bowler sold four dozen counterfeit Mark McGwire baseballs 14 (forged by Greg Marino) to a government undercover agent for 15 $2,400 in cash.

16 76. On or about February 10, 1999, in Escondido, California, 17 Kathleen Marino told Wayne Bray that the Marinos' "black book" was 18 missing. Bray told Kathleen Marino that he had a 7,000 page back-19 up -- that contained authentic signatures of thousands of athletes 20 and celebrities.

21 77. On or about February 10, 1999, in Escondido, California, 22 John Marino told Greg Marino that they found the black book in the 23 garage. Prior to concluding the conversation, the brothers 24 discussed a particular signature -- and John commented that the 25 "B" looked like an "S", but that the signature "passes."
26
27
28

1 78. On or about February 10, 1999, in Escondido, California,
2 Kathleen Marino told Phil Scheinman of Smokey's Sportscards, 3734
3 Las Vegas Blvd., Las Vegas, Nevada, to send the $4,000 check to 4 Gloria Marino.

5 79. On or about February 10, 1999, in Long Beach,
6 California, Lowell Katz called Wayne Bray, in San Marcos,
7 California, and inquired about obtaining some Ty Cobb and Lou
8 Gehrig counterfeit cuts.

9 80. On or about February 11, 1999, in Long Beach,
10 California, Lowell Katz called Wayne Bray, in San Marcos,
11 California, and discussed with him methods of producing fraudulent 12 certificates of authenticity.

13 81. On or about February 11, 1999, in Escondido, California,
14 John Marino received a call from Barry Delit, one of the Marinos'
15 customers in Pottstown, Pennsylvania. In this conversation, Delit 16 ordered five or ten Beatles 8 x 10s, two DiMaggio baseballs, two 17 Ted Williams bats, and a variety of cuts. During this call, Delit 18 noted that the names on some of the cuts were good, but some of 19 them were just bad. In particular, he stated that the first 20 Einsteins were bad, but the second Einsteins were good.

21 82. On or about February 11, 1999, in Del Mar, California,
22 Carmen Lombardo confirmed an order with a government undercover
23 agent for two dozen counterfeit Mark McGwire baseballs at a cost 24 of $55 per ball.

1 83. On or about February 12, 1999, in Escondido, California,
2 Nathan Harrison picked up a large order of counterfeit memorabilia
3 from Greg Marino.

4 84. On or about February 12, 1999, in Del Mar, California,
5 Jon Hall agreed to sell a government undercover agent two Ted 6 Williams, two Mickey Mantle and two Joe DiMaggio replica jerseys.

7 85. On or about February 16, 1999, in Escondido, California,
8 Michael Tapales obtained (at the AM/PM Mini-Mart off I-15)
9 numerous items of counterfeit memorabilia from John Marino that 10 included: (1) five 500 Home Run bats; (2) one 1998 all star bat;
11 (3) one New York Yankee's "greats" bat; and (4) one New York 1998 12 team bat.

13 86. On or about February 16, 1999, in Escondido, California,
14 John Marino instructed Michael Tapales that he would have to deal
15 directly with Wayne Bray if he wanted certificates of authenticity
16 for the counterfeit 500 Home Run bats.

17 87. On or about February 16, 1999, in Escondido, California, 18 Michael Tapales, called Wayne Bray from a pay phone located in the 19 Southeast corner of the AM/PM parking lot. During this call, 20 Tapales left a message indicating that he was interested in 21 finding out the prices for authentications.

22 88. On or about February 17, 1999, in San Marcos,
23 California, Wayne Bray supplied Michael Tapales with certificates
24 that fraudulently authenticated the counterfeit 500 Home Run bats
25 forged by the Marinos.

1 89. On or about February 17, 1999, in San Marcos,
2 California, Nathan Harrison called Greg Marino and set up an 3 appointment so that Marino could deliver an order of counterfeit 4 memorabilia.

5 90. On or about February 18, 1999, in Escondido, California,
6 Michael Tapales obtained (at the AM/PM Mini-Mart off I-15)
7 numerous items of counterfeit memorabilia from John Marino that 8 included: (1) ten Babe Ruth cuts; (2) three Thurman Munson
9 baseballs; (3) three Joe DiMaggio/Mickey Mantle/Ted Williams
10 baseballs; (4) two Mickey Mantle/Roger Maris baseballs; (5) one 11 Triple Crown baseball; (6) one Cy Young cut; (7) one Walter 12 Johnson cut; (8) two Elvis Presley cuts; (9) one Marilyn Monroe 13 cut; and (10) two John Wayne cuts.

14 91. On or about February 18, 1999, in Escondido, California, 15 John Marino received a call from his brother, Greg Marino. In 16 this conversation, John told Greg that he was having trouble 17 "dipping" [the process of shellacking old baseballs which was the 18 way that signatures were preserved in the past].

19 92. On or about February 18, 1999, in Escondido, California,
20 John Marino called his mother, Gloria Marino. In this 21 conversation, John told his mother that he had done [dipped] five 22 balls, but none of them looked good. John said that he would send 23 two balls and see which one they liked better. He then added that 24 Sissy was touching the balls and knocking them over -- and they 25 were bad enough already.

1 93. On or about February 18, 1999, in San Marcos,
2 California, Wayne Bray received a phone call from Jack
3 Morgenstern. In this conversation, Morgenstern called to discuss 4 a prior order of five counterfeit baseballs purporting to be 5 signed by either Roberto Clemente or Jackie Robinson. Morgenstern 6 informed Bray that one of the "bad" baseballs had been returned by 7 Morgenstern's customer. Morgenstern implied that his customer had 8 discovered that Clemente's signature was placed on a ball
9 manufactured after Clemente's death.

10 94. On or about February 19, 1999, in San Diego, California, 11 Jack Morgenstern discussed the problems he had with these five 12 counterfeit balls with a government undercover agent. Among other 13 things, Morgenstern told the agent that the Marinos were 14 responsible for forging the signatures on the balls. Morgenstern 15 also confirmed that the balls were purchased through Michael 16 Bowler with certificates from J. DiMaggio Company.

17 95. On or about February 20, 1999, in San Diego, California,
18 Jack Morgenstern stated that he returned the five balls to Michael 19 Bowler. Thereafter, Michael Bowler sold the five counterfeit 20 baseballs (containing the forged signatures of Roberto Clemente 21 and Jackie Robinson) to a government undercover agent for 22 approximately $1,750.

23 96. On or about February 23, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 24 Rino Ruberti transferred numerous boxes of memorabilia from his 25 Astro van into John Marino's Jeep Grand Cherokee.

1 97. On or about February 24, 1999, in San Juan Capistrano,
2 Richard Laughlin called Wayne Bray and inquired as to his source 3 for obtaining blank photographs -- that could later have 4 signatures forged thereon.

5 98. On or about February 25, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
6 Rino Ruberti transferred numerous boxes of blank memorabilia from 7 his Astro van into John Marino's Jeep Grand Cherokee.

8 99. On or about February 25, 1999, in Escondido, California, 9 John Marino delivered the blank memorabilia to Greg Marino at the 10 Marino family residence.

11 100. On or about February 25, 1999, in Escondido, California, 12 Greg Marino forged celebrity signatures on the memorabilia that 13 was delivered by John Marino.

14 101. On or about February 25, 1999, in San Marcos,
15 California, John and Gloria Marino delivered the memorabilia (now 16 containing forged signatures) to Rino Ruberti in the parking lot 17 of a Petco store.

18 102. On or about February 25, 1999, in Escondido, California, 19 Angelo Marino told John Marino that the lithos were in a box, and 20 easy to look through and sign.

21 103. On or about February 25, 1999, John and Gloria Marino
22 left the Marino family residence located at 2422 Smokewood Place, 23 Escondido, California in a white Cadillac. They drove to an 24 abandoned gas station at 1227 Vista Way, Vista, California. At 25 this location, they met Rino Ruberti who was driving his Astro
26
27
28

1 van. At the abandoned gas station they exchanged boxes and bags
2 containing sports memorabilia with Ruberti.

3 104. On or about February 25, 1999, in Escondido, California, 4 Gloria Marino told Angelo Marino that Jerry Rice's signature was 5 signed on the wrong side of the ball.

6 105. On or about February 25, 1999, in San Marcos,
7 California, Lowell Katz requested that Wayne Bray certify a poor 8 quality counterfeit Joe DiMaggio bat that he was sending to one of 9 his customers.

10 106. On or about February 28, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 11 Michael Bowler called John Marino and discussed whether Bowler was 12 making a lot of money selling counterfeit memorabilia over the 13 Internet.

14 107. On or about March 1, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 15 Michael Bowler called John Marino and discussed the need to be 16 very careful when selling counterfeit items over the Internet.

17 108. On or about March 1, 1999, in Escondido, California, 18 Greg Marino called Wayne Bray. In the call, Bray indicated that 19 he wanted to talk with the Marinos about a government 20 investigation into fraudulent sports memorabilia being offered for 21 sale over the Internet.

22 109. On or about March 1, 1999, in Escondido, California,
23 John Marino called his brother to discuss the possible government 24 investigation into their counterfeiting activities. John and Greg 25 Marino then discussed problems and Greg noted that [James] 26 DiMaggio would authenticate anything when he needed money. Greg 27
28

1 also stated that they should have never let DiMaggio in -- and 2 that was a "big, stupid thing by Wayne." In this same 3 conversation, John and Greg Marino also agreed that the 4 authorities were most likely "not gonna look at the guy who's 5 sellin' 'em or doin' 'em [counterfeits]. It's the guy
6 authenticatin' 'em" that was most likely to be the focus of law 7 enforcement efforts. The two brothers then asserted that the 8 authenticators were the true crooks "'cause everybody 9 authenticates shit."

10 110. On or about March 2, 1999, in Escondido, California, 11 John Marino called Greg Marino. In this conversation, Greg 12 discussed with John the need to have an "Appalachia" meeting.
13 Greg also told John that they were "going out Appalachia."
14 According to Greg, Appalachia referred to a meeting in which all 15 the Mafia bosses from all over the world traveled to one place in 16 upstate New York [where they could discuss business]. It was 17 during this meeting, Greg explained, that the FBI discovered the 18 existence of the Mafia.

19 111. On or about March 2, 1999, in Escondido, California,
20 John Marino called Greg Marino and discussed making a list of all 21 the people with whom they were dealing so that they could see how 22 everybody felt about their "guys" at the Appalachia meeting. Greg 23 also told John that they needed to have Rino [Ruberti] at the 24 meeting because he was their main connection to L.A. In addition, 25 they also noted that they had to discuss the need to "tighten up"

1 how they did business over the phone. In particular, they agreed 2 to automatically hang up when someone messes up.

3 112. On or about March 3, 1999, in Escondido, California,
4 Richard Laughlin dropped off numerous items of blank memorabilia
5 at the Marino family residence.

6 113. On or about March 4, 1999, in Escondido, California,
7 Greg Marino called John Marino and indicated that he was working 8 on Wayne [Bray's] order before working on Rino [Ruberti's] order.
9 Greg stated that Gloria [Marino] would prep the order and that he 10 [John Marino] should help.

11 114. On or about March 4, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
12 Michael Bowler showed a government undercover agent his inventory 13 of counterfeit memorabilia.

14 115. On or about March 5, 1999, in Vista, California, Richard 15 Mitchell called Greg Marino to verify that the Appalachia meeting 16 was going to be held at Coco's restaurant in Oceanside. Mitchell 17 also stated that he had six pieces. Greg responded that they 18 should not discuss business over the phone anymore.

19 116. On or about March 5, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
20 Wayne Bray, Greg Marino, John Marino, Rino Ruberti, Richard 21 Mitchell and Nathan Harrison met at Coco's restaurant. During 22 this meeting, the conspirators agreed to take a 30-day break due 23 to concerns regarding detection by law enforcement. They also 24 agreed to get a lawyer -- so that if anyone was contacted the 25 lawyer would make sure that nobody would talk [to the 26 authorities].

1 117. On or about March 5, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
2 John and Greg Marino called Angelo Marino to tell him about the 3 Appalachia meeting. They stated that the meeting went well, but 4 that they might have been surveilled.

5 118. On or about March 6, 1999, in Escondido, California,
6 Gloria Marino requested that Greg Marino bring his pens when he 7 came over.

8 119. On or about March 7, 1999, in San Juan Capistrano, 9 California, Richard Laughlin called John Marino to find out if his 10 order of memorabilia was finished.

11 120. On or about March 8, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
12 Michael Moses delivered to a government undercover agent an order
13 of counterfeit memorabilia that included the five 500 Home Run
14 bats that had been counterfeited by Greg Marino and authenticated 15 by Wayne Bray.

16 121. On or about March 8, 1999, in Del Mar, California, Jon
17 Hall discussed selling two counterfeit Babe Ruth baseballs to a 18 government undercover agent.

19 122. On or about March 9, 1999, in Del Mar, California, Jon
20 Hall sold the counterfeit Babe Ruth baseballs to a government 21 undercover agent for $900 each.

22 123. On or about March 9, 1999, in Del Mar, California, Jon
23 Hall agreed to sell a government undercover agent two baseballs 24 with Ronald Reagan's signature.

25 124. On or about March 9, 1999, in Escondido, California,
26 John Marino told Richard Laughlin that he would try to complete 27
28

1 his order this morning. At that time, Marino also told Laughlin
2 that he was unable to handle any additional orders from Laughlin.

3 125. On or about March 10, 1999, in Escondido, California,
4 Richard Laughlin picked up his order of counterfeit memorabilia
5 (now containing forged signatures) from the Marinos.

6 126. On or about March 11, 1999, in Escondido, California,
7 Greg Marino informed John Marino that they would get to Wayne's
8 stuff, but Nate [Harrison] would have to wait.

9 127. On or about March 11, 1999, in Escondido, California,
10 Gloria Marino stated over the phone that the Marinos' garage was 11 full because they were preparing numerous Joe DiMaggio orders.
12 The other party then commented that everyone would just have to 13 believe that DiMaggio signed all those things before he died, to 14 which, Gloria Marino replied that the other person should shut her 15 mouth on the phone. The other party retorted that they were not 16 talking on a cellular phone and she was getting nauseous of 17 everyone talking in code all the time. Prior to concluding the 18 conversation, Gloria Marino discussed building the Marinos' new 19 house with $100,000 in cash that she had secreted in the house.

20 128. On or about April 6, 1999, in Del Mar, California, Jon 21 Hall obtained fraudulent certificates of authenticity for the 22 counterfeit Ronald Reagan baseballs from Rino Ruberti.

23 129. On or about April 8, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 24 Michael Bowler sold a government undercover agent an assortment of 25 counterfeit memorabilia (produced by Greg Marino) for $3,750 in 26 cash.

1 130. On or about April 12, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
2 Jon Hall sold the counterfeit Ronald Reagan baseballs (along with 3 the fraudulent certificates of authenticity) to a government 4 undercover agent for approximately $75 a piece.

5 131. On or about April 14, 1999, in Laguna Niguel, 6 California, Robyn Moses assisted Michael Moses in delivering 7 hundreds of items of counterfeit memorabilia to a government 8 undercover agent.

9 132. On or about April 18, 1999, in Escondido, California,
10 Gloria Marino told Greg Marino that John had everything "prepped."

11 133. On or about April 20, 1999, in Escondido, California, 12 Gloria Marino stated over the phone that Bray's order would have 13 been finished, but they had to do something else for Rino Ruberti.
14 Gloria Marino also indicated that she was making over $10,000 per 15 week. The other party noted that Gloria was making money hand over 16 fist.

17 134. On or about April 20, 1999, in Oceanside, California,
18 Rino Ruberti gave John Marino numerous items of blank memorabilia 19 and picked up numerous items of forged memorabilia.

20 135. On or about April 21, 1999, in Oceanside, California, 21 Michael Bowler called John Marino and discussed the forging of 22 signatures on celebrity photographs.

23 136. On or about April 21, 1999, in Escondido, California, 24 Gloria Marino provided Wayne Bray with a new price list indicating 25 that the Marinos were charging higher prices for athletes who had 26 died [these athletes typically commanded higher prices in the 27

1 market place because they were not available to sign any more
2 autographs].

3 137. On or about April 21, 1999, in Escondido, California,
4 Gloria Marino called John Marino. In this conversation, Gloria 5 told John that Wayne [Bray] was shocked at the price changes.
6 Gloria went on to note that she explained to Bray how the team
7 stuff was a lot of work and that if Stan [Fitzgerald] didn't want 8 to pay these prices that was fine. Gloria Marino added that Bray 9 thought it would be only $7 a ball (rather than $10). Bray also 10 wanted to pay less for ball players who had only recently died.
11 Gloria responded, "Yeah, but they're dead" and refused to charge 12 less than $15. Gloria also noted that Rino [Ruberti] had been 13 paying these prices all along.

14 138. On or about April 23, 1999, in Escondido, California,
15 Gloria Marino received a call from Richard Weimer. In this 16 conversation, Gloria Marino told Weimer she heard that Richard was 17 complaining about the new prices. Weimer replied, "Why would I
18 cry. I don't need 100, 200 Jerseys done. He [Bray] made a 19 million dollars, I didn't make no million dollars . . . Who knows, 20 he said he is going to pay me. I think he is going to up Stan 21 $100 across the board." Gloria told Weimer that Stan probably 22 made ten million dollars.

23 139. On or about April 23, 1999, in Escondido, California, 24 Greg Marino told John Marino to bring the black book over, and 25 indicated that he worked five hours yesterday for $3,000 (and that 26 John would get 10%).
27
28

1 140. On or about April 24, 1999, in Escondido, California, 2 Gloria Marino told Greg Marino that Richard Laughlin could go to 3 a rival forger, Michael Lopez, if he was unsatisfied with their 4 work.

23 Wayne Bray received a package bearing the return address: STM
24 (973) 228-5257, Broadway Square, 759 Bloomfield Avenue, Suite 394, 25 Caldwell, New Jersey. This package contained: three Hank Aaron
26 Braves jerseys (with a note instructing Bray to add the signatures 27
28

1 of the other 500 home run club members to the Hank Aaron forgery
2 on the jerseys); and eight Hank Aaron model bats (without 3 signature).

4 152. On or about May 20, 1999, in Newport Coast, California, 5 Michael Moses mailed an order (placed by a government undercover 6 agent on May 10, 1999) of counterfeit memorabilia to Hawaii.

7 153. On or about May 25, 1999, in Rancho Bernardo, 8 California, Richard Mitchell asked Wayne Bray to get him some 9 counterfeit vintage baseballs for his customers in Las Vegas.

10 154. On or about May 25, 1999, in Escondido, California,
11 Wayne Bray gave Gloria Marino three Hank Aaron jerseys and eight 12 bats along with 125 unsigned photographs, 29 unsigned George Brett 13 jerseys and a list of 48 cuts (previously requested by Stan 14 Fitzgerald). When dropping off the items, Bray instructed Gloria 15 to add the other members of the 500 home run club to the Hank
16 Aaron bats and jerseys. Prior to leaving, Gloria Marino handed 17 Bray a typed price list indicating how much the Marinos would 18 charge for future forgeries.

19 155. On or about May 25, 1999, in San Marcos, California, 20 Nathan Harrison discussed supplying Wayne Bray with some 21 counterfeit Jimmy Hendrix cuts.

22 156. On or about May 27, 1999, in Escondido, California,
23 Wayne Bray gave Gloria Marino $4,500 in exchange for the Marinos
24 forging signatures on the items he dropped off two days 25 previously.

1 157. On or about May 27, 1999, Wayne Bray, in San Marcos, 2 California called Stan Fitzgerald in Caldwell, New Jersey. In the 3 call, Fitzgerald hounded Bray for memorabilia and told him that he 4 was getting 300 calls a day and had 20,000 customers [that needed 5 their orders filled]. Fitzgerald also discussed a large order of 6 signatures, including 40 Babe Ruth, 24 Lou Gehrig, 12 Roberto 7 Clemente and ten Satchel Paige.

8 158. On or about May 28, 1999, in San Marcos, California,
9 Wayne Bray shipped two packages to Stan Fitzgerald, (973) 228-
10 5257, 14 Washburn Place, Caldwell, New Jersey. The packages 11 contained many items that Fitzgerald had been pressuring Bray to 12 deliver, including: (1) the eight Hank Aaron model bats
13 (previously sent to Bray by Fitzgerald) which now contained 14 forgeries of all the modern-era 500 home run hitters; (2) the 15 three Hank Aaron Atlanta jerseys (previously sent to Bray by 16 Fitzgerald) which now contained forgeries of all the modern-era 17 500 home run hitters; (3) the 29 George Brett jerseys (previously 18 sent to Bray by Fitzgerald) which now contained forgeries of 19 Brett's signature; and (4) 105 photographs of various athletes and 20 celebrities (containing forged signatures). Also included in the 21 May 28, 1999 shipment from San Marcos, California, was a 22 photograph of Timothy Dalton (as James Bond) upon which the 23 Marinos mistakenly forged Pierce Brosnan's signature. Along with 24 the photograph was a note which stated:

25 Stan, this is the kind of shit I have to deal with using 26 Greg. I ate twelve Dalton photos plus the autographs 27 cause the asshole signed Pierce Brosnans [sic] name on 28 them. I continually get no refunds from them - they're

1 assholes - I already talked to you a little on the phone
2 but I have a guy thats [sic] better than Greg at the 3 Hollywood sigs. I start using him next week tell me
4 what you think. I'll continue using them only for you
5 to get you your vintage as well as Mantle - Joe - Ted -
6 and other guys that only Greg does.

7 The note was signed WB.

19 Tabb directed a government undercover agent to utilize multiple 20 checks when paying for an order of counterfeit memorabilia over 21 $10,000 in order to avoid reporting the amount to the IRS.

22 163. On or June 1, 1999, in Tustin, California, Sheldon Jaffe
23 discussed with Wayne Bray his fear that someone had alerted law
24 enforcement to their illegal activity. Bray did not inform Jaffe 25 that his fears were correct.

26 164. On or about June 2, 1999, in Escondido, California, 27 Wayne Bray gave Greg Marino unsigned memorabilia that was part of 28 an outstanding order from Stan Fitzgerald that encompassed, 32
jerseys, five baseball gloves, five vintage baseballs, six MASH

1 cast (partially signed) photographs, one blank cut and 196
2 pictures (including six pictures of Mickey Mantle, Roger Maris and 3 Yogi Berra, 12 pictures of Roger Maris, 24 pictures of Joe 4 DiMaggio and Ted Williams, 40 pictures of Ted Williams, 25

12 to Greg [Marino] for forging.

13 170. On or about June 6, 1999, in San Marcos, California,
14 Wayne Bray called Stan Fitzgerald in Caldwell, New Jersey. During 15 this call, Bray asked whether Fitzgerald had received his package.
16 Fitzgerald replied, "Yeah. I read that note in there." Bray
17 responded, "You did read the note?" Fitzgerald answered, "Uh huh."

18 Bray then went on to discuss how "his friends" in L.A. made the 19 same mistake with Dalton's photo [i.e., forging Pierce Brosnan's 20 signature]. Prior to the end of the conversation, Fitzgerald and 21 Bray discussed outstanding items and the recent price increase [by 22 the Marinos].

23 171. On or about June 10, 1999, in San Marcos, California, 24 Wayne Bray received a shipment from Stan Fitzgerald containing:
25 (1) two Mickey Mantle jerseys bearing what purported to be his 26 signature; (2) two Ted Williams jerseys bearing what purported to

1 be his signature; (3) SCAA certificates purporting to authenticate 2 the signatures on the jerseys; and (4) 72 blank photographs of 3 Mickey Mantle.

4 172. On or about June 11, 1999, in San Marcos, California,
